LONE OAK HIGH

VOLUME

FOREWORD

In presenting this year book we, the Senior Class of 1940 hope to leave an indelible record of the major achievements and activities of our high school career. We hope and trust that our efforts have not been in vain but that in years to come this annual will bring back pleasant memories of those good old high school days.

This book sets a goal at which future classes may aim and it is the sincere wish of every senior that they may not only equal but surpass our efforts and accomplishments; thus lifting Lone Oak High School to the heights it so justly deserves.

Realizing, as we do, that without your aid the publication of this year book would have been impossible, we take this opportunity to express our gratitude to the faculty and student body for their aid and cooperation in publishing this book.

The Senior Class of 1940

DEDICATION

We the Senior Class of 1940 dedicate this year book to our friend and advisor Mr. J. C. Maddox who has endeared himself to us by his untiring efforts to assist us in our every undertaking.

LOOKING BACK

Flash!! Scientists have just discovered a means of looking at the past. Through Prof. Whatzis marvelous mechanism we look cautiously. The professor turns a dial and an image appears on the screen. It's getting clearer, it is the study hall in days gone by!

There is one of the students of the class, or should we say student for he is just looking around. Typical, isn't he? Near the window is a student propped on two legs of his chair as an acrobat risking a fall. The girl in the corner is preparing an extra heavy billet doux for her boy friend with possibly a new show she wishes to see in the back of her mind. The teacher is attempting to catch the source of a sound resembling a hive of irritated bees and usually does. At the magazine table several are managing to read the comics at once by peering over the shoulder of the fellow who got there first. All this happens unnoticed by the fellow slumping sleepily in his chair. He was out late the night before, poor guy, but it was fun while it lasted. Breaking the silence is the tittering of giggling girls who somehow manage to get a tremendous kick out of a microscopic nothing.

We follow the image on the invention as it travels down the corridor. While watching students corner teachers in dark hallways to recite poetry Prof. Whatzis slyly remarks that the memorizing of poetry or the constitution must have made Longfellows or statesmen out of almost everyone.

Farther down the hallway the invention reveals a door marked with the number thirty. Pushing aside the door it shows, sitting in the classroom listening to Mr. Bement lecture on Napoleon, Joe Lee Boyd who was chosen president in our freshman year and Chesney Malone who followed in the sophomore year.

With the time still turned back the professor focused his machine on a basketball floor. The crowd is cheering at a shot made by genial Jack Clark who graced our presidential seat as a junior.

Another change of focus reveals Joe Lee Boyd appearing in front of the so-called dignified senior class as its president. The girls occupy the first two rows while the males lounge in the chairs at the rear. A loud explosion is heard in the machine and Professor Whatzis growls as the image fades.

HISTORY

During the years of 36-37 we stood on the first Step of Knowledge. Joe Lee Boyd was elected president and Paul Johnson vice president of our Freshman Class.

In the years of 37-38 we had reached the second Step to Knowledge. A few were left behind. Chesney Malone was elected president and Joe Lee Boyd vice president of our Sophomore class.

In the years of 38-39 we were climbing still a higher step in the field of knowledge. Again we left a few behind and a few came into our class. Jack Clark was elected president and Joe Lee Boyd vice president of our Junior class.

In the years of 39-40 we have reached our first climax in the field of knowledge. We have left an example for the other classes to follow.

We have taken part in every activity that we could possibly enter. Jack Clark, Norman Williams, Joe Lee Boyd, and Hollie Clark were our representatives in the basketball squad. Glenn Finley represented the senior class in oratorical speaking, Marian Challoner won the title "Basketball Queen of Lone Oak High School" for 39-40. We have had several other representatives in many phases of work.

As seniors we had the right to publish the year book of 1940. May this book in years to come be looked upon as one of the best year books published by Lone Oak High School.

We know that we will be missed for awhile, but there are others to take our place. We have seen sorrow and happiness, success and failure. We hope the senior class of 1940-41 will even be more successful than we have been.

PROPHECY

As I set gazing wonderingly into my crystal I wonder if I am seeing things. There is the world turning at top speed; finally as it glides to a stop I find the date is April 24, 1949. The scene is changed to Washington D.C. There, before a vast throng Pres. Eldon Rowland is delivering his re-election campaign speech.

PRESTO! That scene disappears and I see T. R. "Ace" Ward Pres. Of the Paducah Municipal Airport giving orders to his employees. Another PRESTO! I see a quite scene in a luxurious furnished home of ex-welterweight champion of the world Harry Hester sitting with his beautiful wife the former Miss Evelyn Nickels and sons.

This scene fades and in its place comes a scene from the agriculture Dept. of Lone Oak High School where instructor E. B. Nace is telling his students how to milk chickens. Then faintly, as if from far away, comes a heavenly voice, then I see the studio of station XYZ, Chicago, and standing before the mike emitting lovely words is Dorothy Reynolds. In the operating room of the same station I see chief radio-trician James Grant jumping from one gadget to another. There is a fog in my crystal ball then I see Coach Hollie Clark in the dressing room of a large high school telling his boys to get into the game and scrap. Then I am mysteriously transported to Hooks Pavilion on the card for tonight is Carl "Tornado" Tinsley VS Jack "Cyclone" Clark. Then in a flash I see the Turbine room of the Gilbertsville dam; there dodging in and out of the huge dynamos is a ponderous shape. I soon learn that it's Lillard Hedden and that he is head electrician.

Then as if by a magic carpet I am transported to the MGM studios; there, making a picture called "To Night My Love", is that most modern Romeo Norman Williams and playing opposite him is Ona Waller; there at the camera is Willard Hicks. Then I see the office of the Editor-in-Chief of the Paducah Sun-Democrat cluttered up in true journalistic style is Joe Lee Boyd. I am then taken to a side show in the next Worlds Fair where Auneen Word is the Worlds Fattest woman. Then a very domestic scene, I see Elizabeth Laxson an and old maid by the fire side knitting a sweater for her cat. There before me now is a magnificent church and as I enter I see Rev. Hugh Glenn Finley delivering his greatest sermon to an enormous congregation, Presbyterian of course. Swiftly this scene fades and I see John Roof now a salesman at Peters & Motor Co. trying to persuade Lucille Tinsley to buy one of these magnificent internal combustion machines. Pushing a baby buggy down Lone Oak's main street is Carolyn Edwards.

A scene appears in one of the smartest night clubs of that great Metropolis, Lone Oak, Ky. There is play-boy Harold Broyles entertaining number one debutante Pauline Marshall. Marian Challenor is now Dean of a large girls college in Southern California. I am then taken to a dairy farm; coming out of the door I see a lovely milk maid; why its Mildred Key. Then I see Belvie Yarbrough not as the girl I used to know but the wife of the manager of Finkels Fair Store.

Next comes a scene from the Journalism room at Lone Oak High. I see Lorn Swain sitting in the corner with his face to the wall and a dunce cap on his head. Will he ever graduate? I don't think so. Then comes a view of John Percy McWaters as the Lone Stranger over WPAD, Paducah. As my gaze wanders I see Mary Lou Parker, the head of a big dramatic school somewhere in Germany directing the salute to Hitler. Ah! I see Martha Nell Barksdale, as a nurse at the Illinois Central, nursing "Wormy" Doyle to health after he has undergone a tonsorial operation. I come to the last scene; and behold! The Hon. Rev. Dr. Ford Johnson is found in the pulpit of some Baptist church directing the people to do as I say and not as I do.

JUNIOR CLASS

President ----- Russell Shelton
Vice President ----- Jane Outland
Sec. and Treas.----- Audrey Perdeu

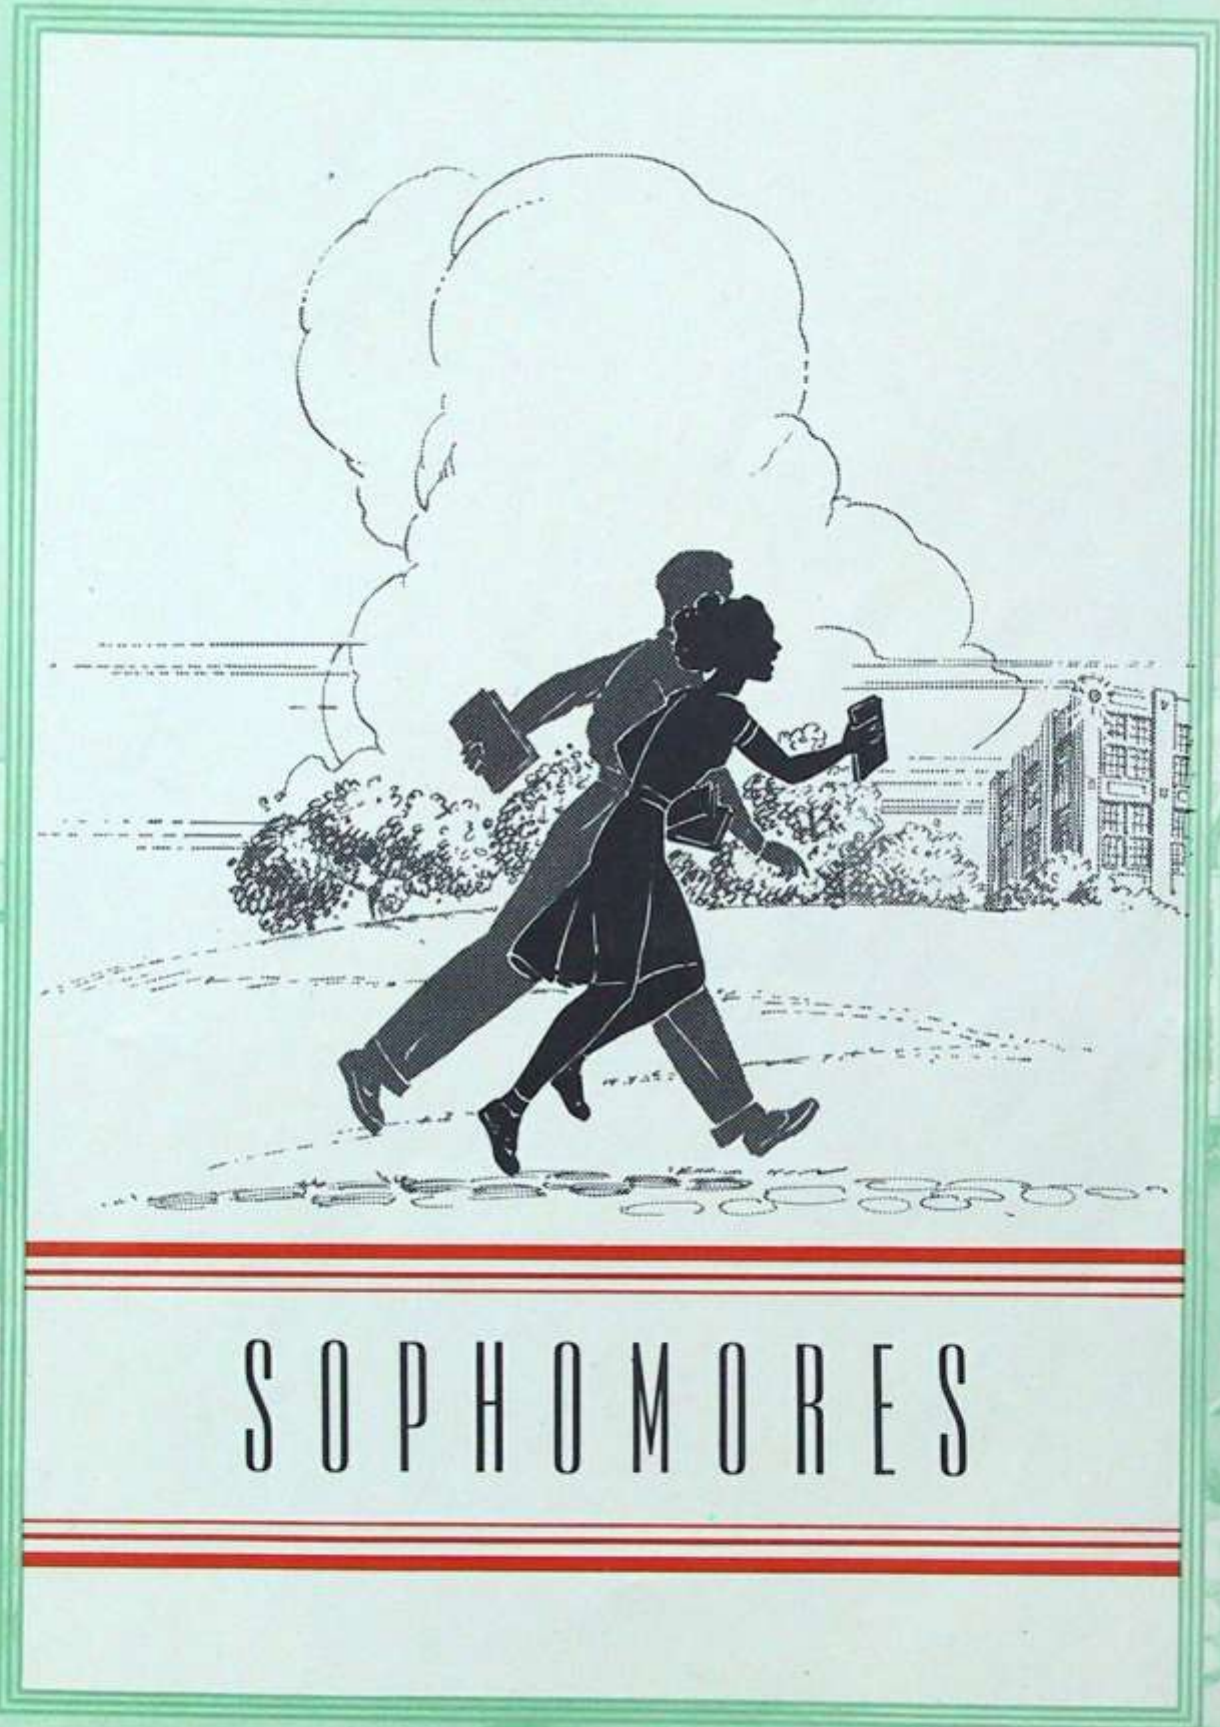

Since entering in high school in 1937, we, as a group of juniors today, have tried to accomplish much in our three years of cooperation with the school.

During this time there have been many changes in our ranks. Some falling by the way-side, a few transferring to other schools, and several newcomers joining our class.

In our Sophomore year, by hard and cooperative work, we won the Basket Ball Queen Election with Miss Dorothy Belle Cunningham "ruling the hardwood".

For the past two years, Russell Shelton has been our faithful president and the class has furnished a cheer-leader, Audrey Perdeu, for the pep-squad.

We, as the students of the class, have taken part in school activities and have done our best in making our school a good and prosperous one.

The Sophomore Class of 1939-40 has the honor of being the largest class in school and in itself should be an inspiration to us to keep up our work to the highest standard.

Our class has taken part in the many school activities. We have three letter men on the basketball team, three others who next year will be first team men and two members on the debating team. We are also well represented in other clubs and the band.

FRESHMAN CLASS

President ----- Ralph Barksdale
Vice President ----- Rita Charvat
Sec. and Treas. ----- Allen Ross

The Freshman Class of 1939-40, known as the green hands, has successfully ended a year in their high school career and has learned the way around the school building after some expert supervision by Principal J. C. Maddox who escorted them to their classes at the beginning of the school year.

We have two men representing us in the sports field, Sammy Mayhall and Kenneth Clymer, also several in the band and in various other clubs.

District Tournament
 Barlow 39 -- Lone Oak 22

Bill Knight - This is the first year of playing for Bill. He is a Sophomore and a player that can be depended upon to do his best in winning a game. He has lettered this year and will Bill make a good player, watch him the next two years.

Jack "Barrel" Clark - Barrel a senior this year will be missed by the team for his excellent guarding and fighting. He never gave up till the whistle blew, he was captain of the team and has lettered three times. We hate to see you go Jack!

Norman "Kid" Williams - Kid having lettered for the last three years is the high point man for the squad. He was a good goal shot from the sides as well as his crisp shots. Kid is a senior and will be missed!

James Hayden - Hayden having two years of experience in basketball and lettering this year is a Sophomore. Playing consistantly with his eye on the basket he will be a valuable man to have on the team in the next two years.

Jack Johnson - This is the first year Jack has played at Lone Oak, he is a very consistant player and has lettered this year. Being a junior he has the possibility of being a great asset to the team next year. Jack we are expecting big things from you!

Sammy Mayhall - Coming from the reserves Sammy has made himself a position on the team, he has lettered this year and being a Freshman Sammy will be known quite well for his playing ability before he leaves Lone Oak.

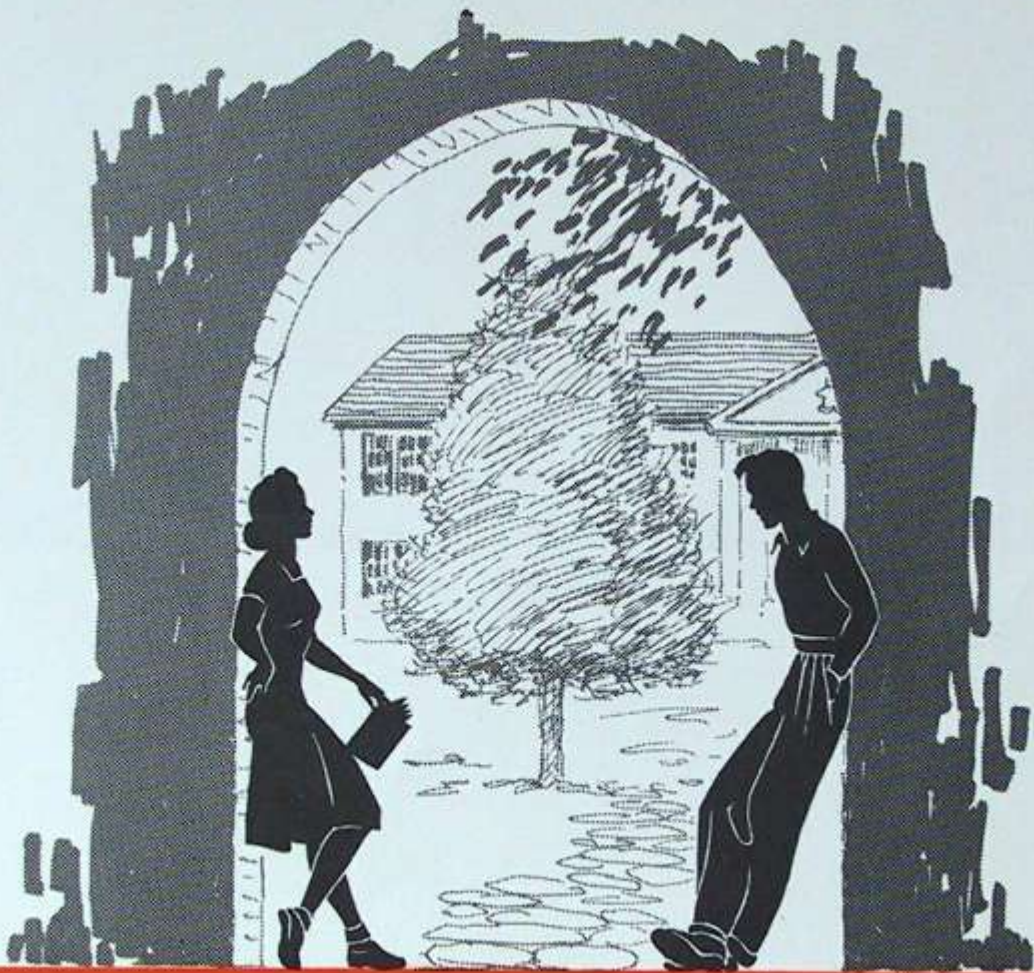

Bill Owens - Bill is the smallest man on the squad but he is all over the floor in a game. Bill is a Sophomore, a good goal shot and together with his scraping let's say he will be a great help in the next two years.

Earl Clymer - Clymer was one of the reserves at the beginning of the season, but had a permanent position before the season was over. He has lettered this year and as he is only in the eight grade he will make basketball history at Lone Oak.

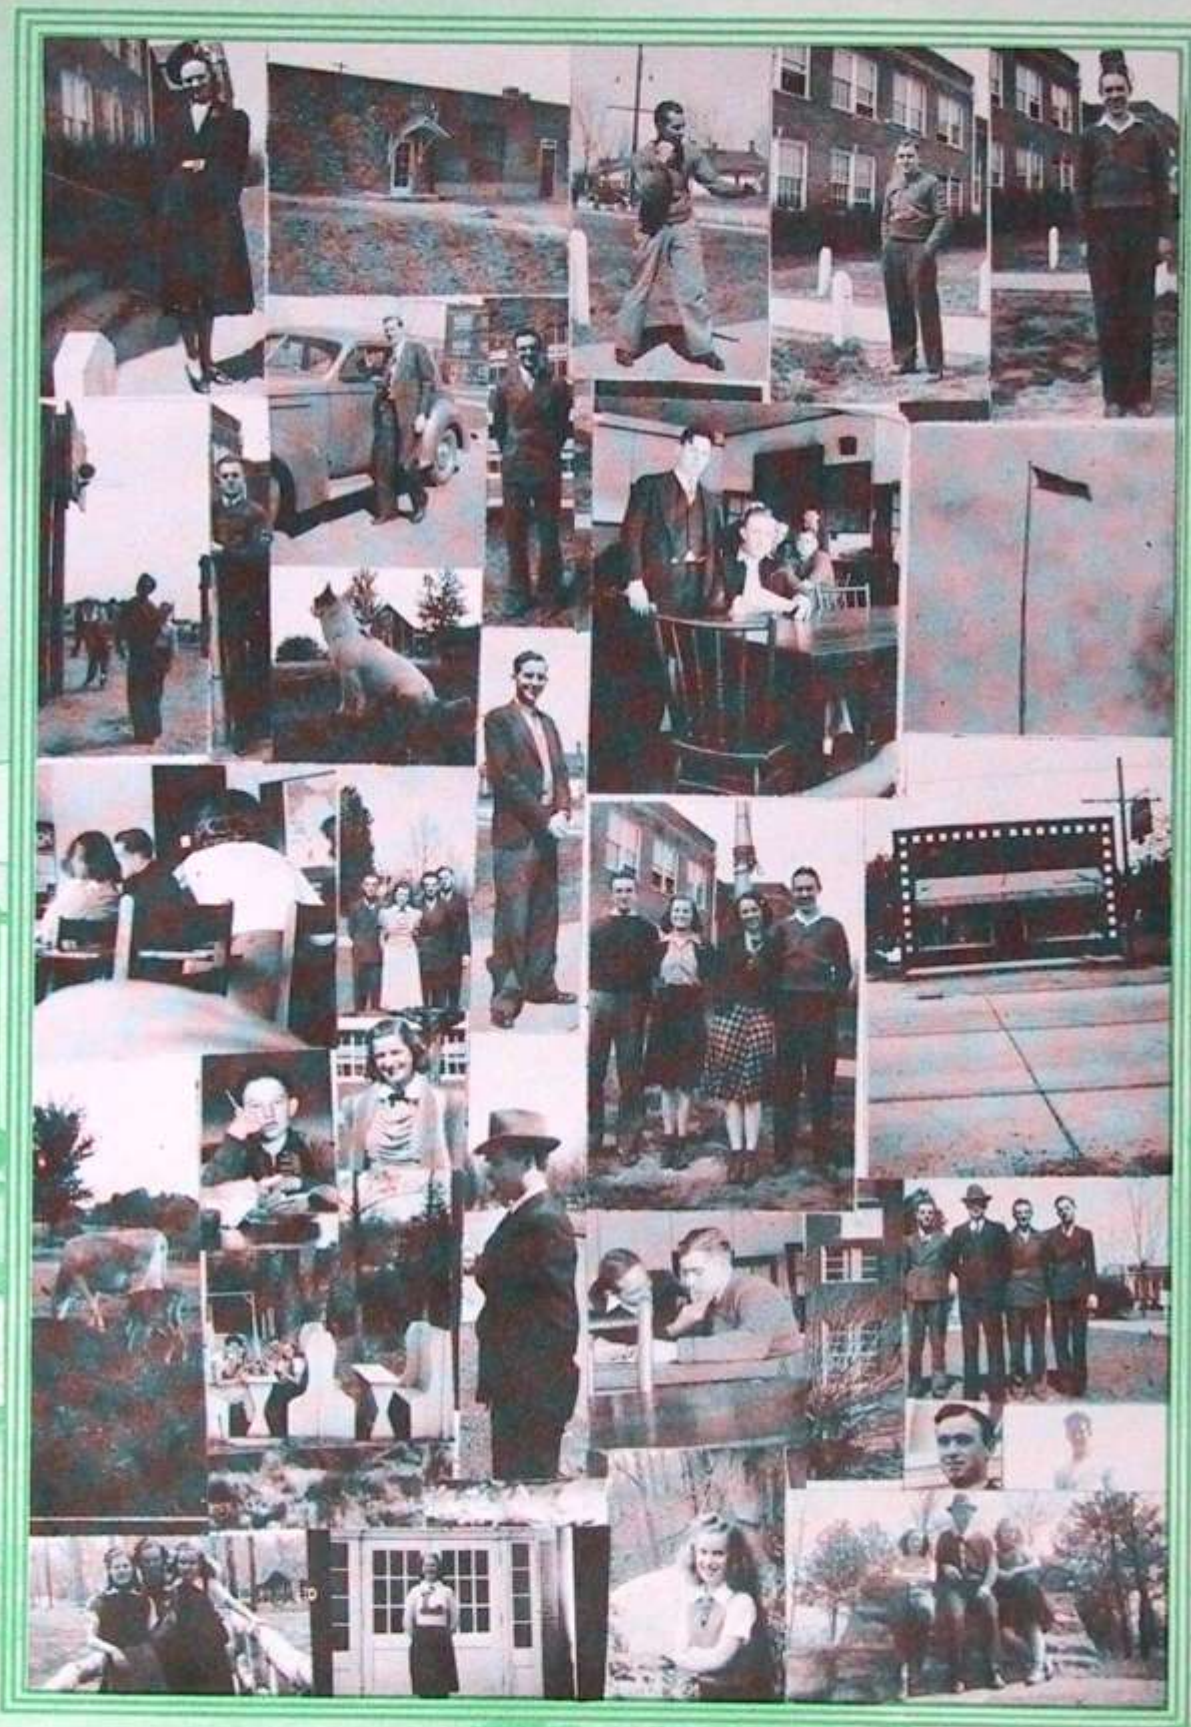

Paul Terrel - Terrel is another Sophomore, this is his first year of playing and has lettered, he will be a valuable man on the team in the next two years. Let's see you go Terrel!

Charles "Chilly" Lynn - Chilly is a Sophomore being his first year of playing he has the possibility of being a star with the fans around Lone Oak before he graduates.
