Senior Wedding Of Interest

Mrs. Bobby Gallamore

On February 22nd Miss Marjorie Reber became the bride of Mr. Bobby Gallamore at the Lone Oak Baptist Church, at 3:00 o'clock. Rev. Winchester was the officiating minister and the only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Reber, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. After the wedding the couple left for an unannounced honeymoon to the various parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Upon arriving home Mr. and Mrs. Gallamore will reside with the groom's parents in Melber, Kentucky. They later plan to run a grocery store in Melber.

We are delighted to say that Marjorie is going to continue her school work and graduate with the rest of the Senior Class. The best of luck and good wishes to the newly-weds from the entire L. O. H. S. student body.

Introducing

We are very glad to have with us filling the position of Agriculture teacher, Mr. Edward Neihoff. He previously taught here but that was probably before most of us remember. Being a native of McCracken county, he feels very much at home even though he has been away for some years.

For the past ten years Mr. Neihoff has been connected with the Department of Agriculture and the Soil Conservation Service, both in Graves and O'Bion counties. At the present, the 94 boys taking Agriculture are being taught practical things and are being instructed as to their home projects. Some shop work is being done, but due to the lack of sufficient tools, this is a minor undertaking.

Mr. Routen, who formerly taught in this capacity, resigned to take a job in the Veteran Training Program.

Know Your Seniors

EMMA DUNCAN

Emma Duncan has been at Lone Oak for nine years. She was born June 22, 1926. Everywhere you see Emma she has a cheerful smile and a very spontaneous giggle. She says that her favorite color is blue and she loves to be in a crowd having lots of fun. She dislikes certain people trying to run everything. During her high school days she has been in the Glee Club for three years and the Home Economic Club and has played basketball on girl's teams. This year she is a circulation manager of the "Oak K" and the Annual too. She was in the Senior play. When asked about her future she said she wanted to be a secretary and housewife.

MARJORIE ANDERSON

Marjorie Anderson was born September 17, 1928. She has been with us for six years. Her favorite color is red. She loves to eat pecan pie and have a good time. She simply cannot stand oyster soup. She has been in the Home Economics Club, Library Club, Glee Club, Girl Scouts and the Senior Play. After she graduates she plans to go to business college for six months and then be a secretary.

DOROTHY HENDON

Dorothy June Hendon has been in Lone Oak High School for 12 years. She was born June 1, 1927. For that reason some people call her "June Bug." Her favorite color is yellow. When asked what she likes she said "Having my way" and she dislikes people who won't let her have her way. During her years at Lone Oak she has been in the Glee Club, Home Economics Club, Library Club, First Aid Club and the Girl Scouts. This year she is on the Finance Committee of the Annual Staff. She has always wanted to be a basketball coach, but doubts if she could be. Where there's a will there's a way, June.

RUSSELL PARROTT

Russell (Polly) Parrott was with us in the lower grades and left and then came back to us again in our Senior year. Altogether he has been with us for seven years. He was born December 13, 1927. He doesn't have a favorite color. He's crazy about outdoor sports of all kinds and science also holds his interest. He dislikes snobbish people. He has played football, basket ball and been on the track team. He's been a Boy Scout and is an art editor on the annual staff. He expects to go into the service soon and then go to the University of Louisville and study to be a dentist.

CHRIS LONG

This is Chris Long's first year with us. He was born September 3, 1927. His favorite color is white and he likes Camel cigarets and dislikes nose people. He was in the F. F. A. club for three and one-half years. He says he wants to be a bachelor and be in the garage business.

LOU ANNA BEYER

Are you superstitious? Lou Anna Beyer is but she can't figure out whether Friday 13th is lucky or unlucky. You see, Lou Anna was born on Friday 13th, in February, 1929. Lou Anna has been with us in Lone Oak for 6 years. Her favorite color is green and more than anything she says she likes to read, but she can't stand people who lie to her. She has been in the Home Ec. club for two years. Also, she has been a member of the Glee Club for three years, and is on the annual staff serving as an advertising manager. The Seniors have reason to be proud of her for she is our basketball queen of 1945 and 1946 and may we add, she is a very gracious one. She wants to go to a girls' finishing school and then be a model in New York. We'll be seeing you in Madamosselle Magazine Lou Anna.

LORELLA KIRKS

Another outstanding Senior this year is Lorella Kirks, an honorary member of our class. She started to Lone Oak High School in 1934 as a first grader and has been here ever since. She was born November 25, 1928. Lorella is a good student and we have just found out recently that she is excellent in the art of public speaking. This year she is a copy reader on the Oak K staff and feature editor on the Annual Staff. She has been in the Glee Club for three years and holds a high office in the Senior Class. She is Vice President. She has been in the Home Economics Club for three years and is Vice-President of the District Future Homemakers of America this year. Also she participated in the Senior play. She says that her favorite color is blue and she likes brown hair and blue eyes especially well. She can't stand snobbish people. After this year she wants to attend college where she can prepare herself to be the perfect housewife. We see a bright future ahead of you Lorella.

Senior Play a Success

Once again the senior class has come out on top. Their play, "The Daffy Dills," which was presented in the auditorium on the evening and night of March 5th was a successful undertaking.

Without the aid of Mrs. Charles McGehee, the play wouldn't have been quite so good. She stayed by us as an excellent coach. Helping her as student coach was Jeannette Jarvis.

There was a good-sized attendance at both the matinee and evening performances. It seemed that every one enjoyed themselves.

Between acts we were entertained by a few selections. After the first act, Mr. Lynch presided at a special quiz program, in which several participated. Between second and third acts, vocal solos were rendered by Roy Buchanan, who sang "Song of the Open Road," and Richard Lynn, who sang "There's A Happy Land Somewhere."

P. T. A. Meeting

The P. T. A. had as their guests, the Girl Scouts, a few Brownie Scouts, and several grade children that won in the penmanship contest. A Girl Scout led the P. T. A. in the pledge to the flag.

Girl Scout, Beverly Hines gave a talk stressing the work of the 4-H boys and girls and the need of leaders.

Girl Scout leader Mrs. Allen Hines gave a talk about the Girl Scouts and the need of leaders for the Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Mrs. Gore, vice president of the P. T. A. appointed a committee to investigate for leaders of the above organizations.

Mrs. Rein volunteered to try her best to be a Brownie leader.

Several Girl Scouts presented to the P. T. A. how to lay a trail, tie bandages, make a stretcher, make a bed properly, and one folk dance the Girl Scouts have learned.

Then the awards were given to the children that won in the penmanship contest.

Then the P. T. A. had their regular business meeting and then adjourned.

The refreshments were then served to the P. T. A. patrons in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Alderson was talking to Dr. Gore. Dr. Gore remarked, "I don't like the looks of your husband, Mrs. Alderson."

Mrs. Alderson: "I don't either but he is good to the children."

School, A Preparation for Citizenship

School is a preparation for Citizenship from the Kindergarten, for tiny tots, to the twelfth year of high school and then during the college years.

In the kindergarten and the first three years of elementary school the children learn to be courteous, and love and respect their teachers. They learn to obey orders and to get along with their fellow students.

From the third grade on they study to become better Citizens out of text books. When a person graduates he usually knows what he will take up in life. Sometimes this requires a college education and sometimes it doesn't. Even when you go to college it is also a preparation for Citizenship.

After a person gets into high school they should concentrate on the studies that the teacher finds best for them as it prepares you for the world into which you are about to enter. In my way of thinking English is much more important than any other subject, as you use it every day in speaking to each other. In sports we learn fair play and how to be good losers as well as good winners.

I'm sure that if every child tried to put his best efforts in school work that every person that graduated would walk out of the school with a better knowledge of the world and each and every one would be a better Citizen.

"Getting Along With Others"

One of the major faults in all of us is that we think of "self" instead of "others." We expect much from others but we ourselves are selfish in our giving.

To win the companionship of friends requires little from anyone. One's personality is the most important quality in getting along with others; when speaking of this we merely mean of his disposition. From looking about us, we see that those who often lose their tempers have few friends; it's not that people are afraid of them with a temper, but a person who continuously gets angry does not offer good company.

Another factor in getting along with others is adaptability. We must discover the interests of others. We must learn to engage in conversations that interest them as well as activities they are concerned in.

One's English has much to do with how he gets along with others. People who habitually use incorrect English are embarrassing to their companions. The modern day slang is a bad form of "lingo" and is not so desirable.

To be able to keep friends, one must not always think of self but want to do things with others and not always seek your own way. After all, you have interest you want people to share with you.

One who always tries to run every one else's business but his own is not very thoughtful of himself as well as others. "Snooping" will lose friends instead of gaining them. Our aim should be just opposite. We will find that in life one will do as well running our life as well as ourselves and it will keep us busy.

So in summing up, I would say, "Be considerate of others interests, build your personality, speak correctly and mind your own business."

Good Conduct

I wonder if we have ever thought how big a part good conduct plays in our lives. It doesn't stop at the school, we should practice it at church, at home, in fact everywhere.

We meet the public every day, our actions and deeds are people's first impression of us. Our conduct determines the type of person we are. If we have lack of respect for anyone we should try now to cultivate right respectful attitude toward others and toward ourselves. We will never know how much we will need it in the future.

When we are at school we should at least respect our teachers enough to listen. They are here to help us. If we misbehave it distracts their attention and they can not give the best of their knowledge to us and we miss it and hinder the rest of the class in their attention and development.

Our misbehavior is a reflection on our parents and home training. Sometimes we wonder what kind of training pupils have had at home. Their parents may get undeserved blame; nine times out of ten we really have had the proper training but just don't show it. Please students respect your parents enough that you won't disgrace them.

When we are in church we should be at our best behavior. The minister can not give his best, if his mind is distracted. Chewing gum and talking in church are very ill manners. Remember we are all in the house of God, we go there to worship Him and serve Him, not to make Him ashamed of His children.

So in the future let's try to have better conduct, instead of making our parents, our teachers and our friends ashamed of us, make them proud of us.

Your Facial Index

Your face is the interpreter of your heart. It is the index of your life, the dictionary of your thoughts, the encyclopedia of your actions, the battle field of your passion, the cemetery of your last hopes, the catalogue of your character, the map of your mind, the geography of your soul, therefore keep your face clean. Examine your face, other people do.

"Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done whether you like it or not."

"Being forced to work, and forced to do your best will heed in you a temperance, self-control, diligence, strength of will, content, and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know."

Tardiness and Absences

When we come to school late a morning or two we think, oh; well it's just a few minutes and won't make any difference but if we would stop and think about it we would realize that if we come to school thirty minutes late once a week in a year we will have missed sixteen hours of school which is quite a lot. Not only that but you have missed all of home room which is really your part of school. You miss out on the planning of parties, banquets and everything, because you are never there. We lose interest in school because we don't get there in time for anything but classes. Finally get to where we think oh; I don't want to go to school today, that is getting to be the driest place I have ever seen so we miss a day or two and when we go back we have so many lessons to catch up we don't have time for anything but study. We go a few days and get caught up but haven't done anything but study so we are getting tired of it again. Finally we miss so much and get so far behind that we just can't catch up. We start failing in our subjects and finally quit school and everyone knows there is no future for anyone who doesn't finish high school. So from now on when we are about to be tardy or absent let's just stop and think, is this necessary? If it isn't try to go to school.

"From the Sophomores"

We sophomores are still enjoying life at school, at home, at work and at play in spite of the problems we meet along the way.

The class is indeed very happy to have one of our former students, John Cook, back with us. "Cookie" has been attending school in Phoenix, Arizona. Welcome back, "Cookie!"

February 18, the Sophomore Class enjoyed a very entertaining evening together in the gymnasium. We all dressed like little kids, played kid games, and really had a swell "kid party."

The class again had the pleasure of winning the picture for the best Sunday School attendance. We have had the best attendance all this year and the P. T. A. is planning on presenting the picture to the sophomore class on a future date.

Three of our students are going to take part in a state wide meeting of the Kentucky Young People, March 16 and 17, at Lebanon Church, near Bowling Green, Kentucky. They are Mary Agnes Sellars, Shirley Downing and Nolan Allen.

Our Music Department

Lone Oak High School has a very talented and large group of boys and girls. We have a Junior and Senior girls' chorus, a boys' chorus, a mixed chorus, trio and quartette, all under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Sarver and accompanied at the piano by the talented Mrs. Charles Wickliffe. Each music department is working very hard so that we can rate a Superior in a musical contest to be held at Murray, March 23rd. We are all looking forward to having a grand time and to hearing a lot of good inspiring music. As yet, the choruses haven't decided upon the songs that we are going to sing in the contest, but are practising on some very beautiful pieces. Especially, "Verdant Meadows" which is sung in four parts by the mixed chorus. "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" is also being worked into shape.

The teacher had told a group of five-year olds the story of the three Hebrew children, Shadrack, Meshack, and Abednego.

Mother: "What did you learn today?"

Gene Anderson: "Well, the teacher talked about your shack, my shack and a bungalow."

Help Improve Our School

JAMES LYNCH

There is an axiom we often use in mathematics which reads, "The whole is equal to the sum of its parts, and greater than any of its parts." This is particularly true with our schools. When we consider the things or parts that make up our school they become extremely numerous, and may be divided into many general parts with numerous sub parts. For example, the school plant is made up of the buildings with class rooms, shop, cannery, cafeteria, gymnasium, auditorium, laboratories, libraries, bath rooms, heating plant and numerous other parts. The human parts are also numerous. For example, the teachers, the pupils and the patrons may be considered the three principle human parts. The bus drivers, janitors, cafeteria help and numerous other individuals who contribute to the operation of the school may be considered lesser parts, though very essential.

In this brief paper it will be possible to consider only and briefly the parts referred as the principle human parts: The teacher, pupils, and patrons. To quote another axiom accepted by some, "As the teachers are so is the school," and another, "Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a boy on another constitutes a school." Most of us will admit that the teachers are a very important part of the school. In fact, it is not possible to have a good school without good teachers. We also recognize the great drain the war and war industry, has made on the supply of teachers. We should be thankful, however, our school has been as fortunate as it is and has been in this respect. No teacher in our school, neither grades nor high school, has less than two years of college training above the high school graduation, and only one or two has less than two years teaching experience.

Some teachers have home responsibilities that drain heavily on their energies, but in practically all cases they have given unselfishly of their energies and untiringly of their efforts that our school might go on.

The next principle human part is the pupils. Most teachers think, year in and year out, that they have the best pupils in the world. This is the teachers' opinion of our student body. The greatest reward of teaching school is watching the development and unfolding of the lives of boys and girls. Our school gives opportunities to watch this from the first grade to high school graduation. It is certainly fascinating to watch the physical, mental, social, moral and many other changes that take place during these twelve years. Our student body is large for our school plant. It is made up of boys and girls with a wide range of abilities, interest and ambitions. They represent homes with a wide range of economic, social, and cultural units. They meet at school, however, on the same common level, and through our school, to a great extent, opportunities are made equal through our educational process.

The last human element to be discussed in this writing is the patrons. Like the pupil they are numerous, with a wide range of abilities, economic status, educational levels and philosophies of life. Many patrons have been very busy in the war efforts, many, some mothers, have worked outside of the home and expect the school to give their children many things which their work prevents their doing. Now that the war is over, both teachers and parents should be able to give more to our boys and girls. We should be able to expand our school plant to meet their needs. Longer school terms should be provided in order that our boys and girls will have an equal chance with our neighboring boys and girls. Our transportation system should be improved.

Let us all work together that these ends may be accomplished. It is the writer's opinion that now is the time for us to give of our influence, of our time and of our wealth, that we might make our good school a truly great school.

"Lone Oak's School History"

Lone Oak is a very unusual name for a school. It all came about many years ago when a family moved here and found there was one huge and very unusual tree. It was an oak but that wasn't the thing that was so unusual about it. It was because it was the only one around anywhere. From this derived the name "Lone Oak."

As time went on more and more people moved to Lone Oak. They built a store, a filling station and kept on until they had several different places of business. Now it is a place of much prominence in western Kentucky.

Among the many things which go to make up the Lone Oak we have today is a school that can't be surpassed by any surrounding county. We have a wonderful basketball team which we hope will win more honors in this field than any other has ever done, a swell and co-operative faculty along with all the other things that go to make up the city of Lone Oak; just because there was one "Lone Oak Tree" standing here many years ago.

The plan has been proposed for a new recreational center here on the campus. It is greatly needed by the students here and we all know it soon will be a reality and not just a plan. Also, city water is being brought to Lone Oak. In no time at all Paducah will be extended all the way to Lone Oak and we will have one big city—a second New York, Chicago or Detroit!

Senior Trip Planned

The Senior Class plans to leave school the fifth of April to begin a short "Road Trip" through Western and Central Kentucky. As the outline now stands, we shall visit Mammoth Cave first, staying in the much adored Wigwams that night. Early Saturday morning the trip will begin to progress in the direction of Lexington and Louisville. We shall take special pleasure in viewing the "Old Kentucky Home" at Bardstown which Stephen Collins Foster made famous when he wrote the song bearing its name. Saturday night, one of the fine hotels in Louisville will be our lodging place. In the meantime we will be allowed to visit the sights there that are particularly interesting to us individually. Then after a good night's sleep the group will rise early Sunday morning to begin the trip homeward. On the way, Frankfort, will be visited and we will be entitled to see how the laws of Kentucky are made. The capitol building itself will be very interesting to those who haven't seen it.

Then there's always the spirit that enters into a group of happy boys and girls that just can't keep them from having a swell time when they are all together, no matter if they don't even leave town.

We are looking forward to having a grand time with Mr. Lynch as our sponsor and chaperon. Also, we hope to have Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Hinds to accompany us.

With so much in store for us as Seniors, can you blame us for being so happy? We just know we are about the luckiest people alive! To those who come after us, let us bestow on you the privilege of taking a trip with a grand person like Mr. Lynch.

Future Homemakers of America
Lone Oak Chapter

The Lone Oak F. H. A. held its regular meeting in the Home Economics Department Thursday afternoon, February 28. The meeting, presided over by Beverly Hines, president, was planned as a model of parliamentary procedure. Roll call by Mary Agnes Sellars was answered by each member giving the name of her favorite flower. The F. H. A. pin was discussed and orders were taken.

March 28, will be presented by F. H. A. which will include the conferring of the F. H. A. Homemakers degree on twenty outstanding members. We are looking forward eagerly to the spring district conference of Homemakers at Heath High School in April and many of our Lone Oak members are planning to attend.

Thanks to Mr. Lynch and Mrs. Hurt we now have a nice looking foods laboratory in the Home Eco. department. Among the improvements are a newly refinished floor and an electric range, and do we make good biscuits! Ask Mr. Lynch, who has been showered with good things to eat to show our appreciation for his interest in us. But a word of warning to him, "Watch that Waistline!"

Thirty-five eighth grade H. E. girls are making grand looking spring blouses and just watch, girls, for the style show. They include the new wrap-arounds, which everybody is raving about.

The H. E. II classes (Sophomore girls to you) are learning to cook, boys. Yes, that explains the line outside the H. E. door at second and fifth periods—waiting for a hand-out.

The H. E. I girls have been honored by the P. T. A., who have donated twenty-five dollars for us to use in redecorating and refurnishing the girls lounge. Thanks P. T. A. a lot for your interest in us. We'll do our best to deserve it.

Richard: "What's the matter?"

John Bob: "Aw, it's that eternal question again. Me, Virginia, and Alton."

Intermeral Basketball

Last Friday the boys of Lone Oak chose teams for the Intermeral Ball. There are five teams. The captains are John Bob Padgitt, Bobby Anderson, Donald Parker, Buddy Fields, and Roy Pate. The captains of each team have chosen various names for their teams such as: The Anderson Aggies, Parker Plowboys, Padgitt Pirates, Fields Mice, and Pate Panthers.

The first game was played Thursday between the Padgitt Pirates and the Parker Plowboys. The Plowboys won over the Pirates 47-41, although the Pirates led till the fourth quarter when the Plowboys came back with all their strength to win over the Pirates. Padgitt tallied 18 for the Pirates while Rushing and Parker tied with 13 apiece. Word was close behind with 12.

The next game will be between the Pate Panthers and the Anderson Aggies.

Basketball Game

One of the best played games and the most surprising of this season was our game with Benton. They were noted for having one of the best teams in Marshall county. Actually, we wanted to beat them but from the start, it didn't look like we could.

When the game started the two teams were running neck to neck. The play was very exciting! It was close throughout the entire game; the boys were playing good ball together.

Both Benton and Lone Oak had excellent records and wanted to keep them. Therefore, the fighting spirit of both teams and the spectators was outstanding. The boys seemed to have more skill at that one game than ever before.

The gym was packed and every one had the right spirit for a good game. It was extremely tight up until the last four minutes. When the last half of the last quarter began, the Benton boys seemed to go wild because we were a few points ahead. They threw the ball away several times, much to our delight and advantage. In the last few minutes the score was standing at 52 to 41. This is the way it stood when the final whistle blew; thus giving Lone Oak the victory with a margin of eleven points.

A game cannot be played by one player alone; therefore, all five cooperated with one another. Each one played superior ball by putting all they had into the game. Every player and spectator enjoyed the game immensely and certainly got what they went after—VICTORY!

POEMS

"LOST DOG"

The other day on the street
I happened to meet a poor dog out in the street.
He looked so forlorn in the cold of
the morn,
I wished that I could take him home.
I started back toward town, and as I turned around,
I saw that my wish was coming true.
For the dog was behind, following me all the time.
And barking and wagging his tail too.

So I took him back home, and kept him for my own,
And he grew mighty fast for a dog.
He ate all his food, though he did it very rude,
And he finally grew fat as a hog.

The years passed away, and old Shep
finally lay,
In his house from which no barking came,
Now old Shep has passed away, and
this I will say,
I'll never again be the same.

THE LOST PUP

Once I saw a little doggy
Who was wet and very soggy
I took him home and made warm
While outside there was a storm.

I loved him very much this pup
Who drank his milk from a cup.
He loved to play in his bed,
And when he barked it seemed he said,

I will protect you from all harm
If you will give me all your charm.
Then one day a man came
Who was looking for a pup who was lame.

I said, Does he answer to the name of Mat?
The man answered, He does at that,
Then I cried tears of sadness.
You may keep him

He said with sadness.
It seemed that he was looking for a home.
For this puppy whom he loved as his own.

Mrs. Holland: "Did they say anything about the cooking?"

Delores Toy: "No but I noticed them praying before they started eating."

SENIOR PRIVILEGES

I think of all the years in school
A student must go through,
That being a senior, as a rule,
Is best of all—don't you?

We've trudged through twelve long years in school,
We've done our best—at least we've tried;
And now, dear teachers, we do implore
Our privileges you'll not ignore.

For sunshiny days are very tempting
To study-hall pupils you should be exempting;
Your chapel programs are good, we acknowledge,
But we'll have to attend when we go to college.

We've been very prompt throughout the year
In that line you need have no fear;
When you see someone walking quite fast,
They all say—"that's a senior who just past."

Now for lack of time and space,
We must close our appeal with a kindly grace,—
You'll want us next year—badly too,
But not as badly as we'll want YOU.

The Sophomore Party

On Monday night, February 18, 1946, all sophomores had turned "kids again." A group of about forty sophomores attended our kid party. The girls had their hair in pigtails and long curls with big bow ribbons and their gingham dresses were of bright color and design. The boys reminded us of their kid days with overalls and short pants.

A short program was given which included a reading given by Beverly Hines, a piano duet by Sue Leigh and Roy Buchanan, "Schooldays" sang and acted out by Shirley Downing and Roy Buchanan, a chackbang band which incidently was made up of washboards, lids, French harp, cans with rocks in them, and a solo by Shirley Downing.

After the program everyone was anxious for games. Some of the games played were "The Virginia Reel, Squirrel in a Tree, London Bridge, Drop the Handkerchief, and Farmer in the Dell."

When we had played awhile, like most kids, everyone was hungry, so we went downstairs to the cafeteria which was beautifully decorated. We all enjoyed sandwiches, cookies and coca-colas.

Some left then but the rest of us played more games.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Alderson and Mrs. Lynch everyone felt that they were really "kids" again, including the teachers. We hope to have some more parties this year in which we can have as much fun as we did this Monday night.

Last year we went to Tilghman for the contest. Our Girls' chorus rated Superior along with the trio. The boys' quartette rated excellent. We are all working to rate Superior again this year.

Nearly all the chapels we have had this year were musical ones. The different groups in the music department have participated to help make more enjoyable singing, and give us more experience on the stage. We are very fortunate to have so many in our school who are interested in music. This world would be a pretty bad place if we didn't have a few musical notes now and then to brighten life and make people forget their troubles.

Mary Katherine Ross: "What's flat at the bottom, pointed at the top and has ears?"

Mary Agnes Sellars: "I give up. What?"

Mary K. Ross: "A mountain."

Mady A. Sellars: "What about its ears?"

Mary K. Ross: "Surely, you have heard of mountaineers."
